

RECENTLY IN PRIVATE COLLECTION ...

THANK YOU

Thank you for your support!
With buying a miniature art project from me you help me to continue my work, my painting, my teachings,
my life.

Thank you!

INTRODUCTION

WHO I AM?

Welcome to my miniature-art catalogue.

My name is Roman Lappat and I am a self-employed artist, mainly focusing on miniature art, modelling and teaching. You can find more information about me and about my work via www.romanlappat.com.

I am the founder of the blog “Massive Voodoo”, which spreads the word and the beauty of this form of art globally. I am also teaching miniature painting classes all over Europe and try to bring everyone attending to one of my classes a step further in his personal painting experience. During my self-employment I painted over 2500 miniatures. From gaming commission to unique display pieces and I still enjoy doing a commission here or there. My main focus currently is on display projects, to which I paint at least six hours each day since several years.

Miniature Painting is my work and being self-employed means that I do not have many of my models in my own cabinet. I have to sell them to pay my rent, my taxes, my insurances and my bread. Just like everyone else has to do with his earnings from his job and with this I did not tell you yet that I also have the wish to have my own family in the future. Well, being a Miniature Painter is definitely not the common every day job, but I will never regret my decisions in life. Painting Miniatures and teaching it gives me a lot and the experiences I have been able to collect on my creative journeys and the people I meet let me see the world with a different view, with a sharp mind, and trained eagle eyes.

Is Miniature Painting Art?

Well, I often answer this question by saying the following: Art is happening in oneself. If you see something and consider it as a form of art then it is art for you. Let no one else tell you what you should see as art.

INTRODUCTION

WHY I CHARGE WHAT I CHARGE?

First of all and most important:

Thank you for your interest in my work. I always put a little bit of my soul in each brush-stroke and in the end of a day a painted miniature has many of them. I feel very honoured that you are interested in my creations and want to make one of them your own. You will have a little part of my soul at home if you decide so.

Please keep in mind by reading the following descriptions that I am doing what I do for a living. It's my daily work and I have to pay my rent and bread from my sales. There is no offence in telling you that. I am telling it because there are people who do not understand why I ask what I ask for my work and the hours I did put into these projects.

If you decide to buy one of my projects, please know that you are helping me live. You are buying a piece of me, a piece of my heart, of my soul and emotions I put into the project while creating it. You are not only buying a project, you are also buying the experience I collected over the years to create it.

My miniatures have won several awards at different miniature shows all over Europe in the last years, but I do not like showing off with miniature awards and I will not start with it in this catalog.

Not very often it is easy to calculate a charge on only calculatable terms. Very often I find myself sitting before a project that I plan to sell and see a factor that is not allowing to put calculations on it: Emotions. I do paint with them. It is because painting is a way to heal my soul and understand my life. Painting and the outcome of my three dimensionl canvases mean a lot to me as often you find me putting in raw emotions in my work.

INTRODUCTION

IMPORTANT NOTE:

The photo quality in this document is not the best due my wish to keep this file small. Please check back with the additional links (clickable) below each project to get directed to better photos of the figure or even a small video. When I say “on high quality display plinth “ I mean a plinth by Dino Pivato from Italy, hand-selected for this project.

Questions left?

Please feel free to ask me any questions you got left after this informational PDF.
My email address is: jarhead@massivevoodoo.com

I am happy to answer your questions.
Thank you for your time!

Many thanks to everyone who supports me in my passion, art, work, craft and life.
Be sure you will have a piece of my heart and soul at your home with every project you collect from me.

GAMING MINIATURES

A figure to play with, but a really beautiful one.

The following miniature projects are gaming models. They can be used for tabletop and other boardgames. They arrive on a display plinth, but can be removed easily.

I love to paint faster projects once in a while with aiming for the gaming table. It is the best feeling to finish something faster than usual and see a cool result. These models often do not have the same quality if you compare them to my busts, display miniatures or dioramas. Just because they are painted for something else. Fun with colors and joy to play with.

I do paint all sorts of gaming miniatures, all sorts of gaming systems, but mainly I paint what calls me.

Please enjoy the following area of this catalogue, enjoy my gaming miniatures and make one of it yours if you like it.

2. Display Miniatures

The following miniature projects are not gaming models. They were painted in a very high quality to be pleasing to the eye. They are not meant to be a diorama, but very often also my single display models tell their story. I like to paint Fantasy and Historical miniatures, different scales and different subjects.

The following miniatures you encountered are not just painted nicely. They go through a long process in my brain while I am working on the concept for their presentation. They are always a picture of my personal vision I have for this particular model. Very often I spent a lot of time creating a unique, scratchbuild base to my display models.

These miniatures are not painted in some five hours. Usually they take me up to thirty hours and beyond, depending on the project. A lot of the craftsmanship that I am studying since several years when it comes to painting goes into these. As my style and taste changes over the years my models also might vary in their appearance, basing- and painting style.

Please enjoy the following area of this catalogue, enjoy my display miniatures and make one of it yours if you like it.

*“A miniature for display.
A single miniature that tells a story, shows a strong character or an important moment.
Color choices, painting techniques and characterful details make a single model stand out.”*

A bust is about character.

The following miniature projects are not gaming models. They are only showing a part of a miniature. A so called bust. Mainly face and upper body.

The magic in painting these is that you know what it is about to paint up a bust: It's about the character and even there is no basework present, they can tell a story. That is what I am always driving for. Telling stories even in busts. Telling stories with a character that I find and dig out with painting him.

I do paint historical and fantasy busts. Different scales. Everything that calls me.

Please enjoy the following area of this catalogue, enjoy my busts and make one of it yours if you like it.

“A bust is about character. It is the only thing a bust is about. A face and a story behind it. Many stories can be told with such a portrait of a character.”

A diorama is a scene that tells a story.

I like to tell stories. Some are packed with emotions, others with action, but always several miniatures are included in one diorama. A diorama can be a duel between two combatants, a big battle scene or just some characters playing hide and seek. What I also aim for when creating my dioramas is that the story is self explaining, which is often not an easy task. I am not the biggest fan to show a project that I have to explain everything about or even write a full story to it so that the viewer gets the point. I try to keep this under control with delicate compositon setups, wise choice of miniatures and a vibrant color play in such big scenes.

The settings you see are scratchbuild and you can bet that creating these unique dioramas takes its time. Therefore they are not sold in the same price range like for example a single gaming figure.

Very often my dioramas are not easy to be shipped with the postal service. For most of my dioramas I try to arrange a pickup or transfer when we meet- or a friend of mine - can bring it to you in person to a figure event or another occasion.

Please enjoy the following area of this cataloge, enjoy my unique dioramas and make one of it yours if you like it.

“A diorama is a little or big scene that tells a story, it will deliver the story due different models, dynamic compositions in color and setup. A good diorama needs only visuals, no explanations.”

PROCESS & SHIPPING

WHY I CHARGE WHAT I CHARGE?

Pricing

The following points sum up reasons and explanations on the fee I ask for my artwork. These points together make a final charge and I want to keep my offers as transparent as possible.

Time

The time I worked on a project for planning, preparation, eventual conversion work, basing and painting.

Material costs

Preparation material, plinth, the figure, colours, brushes, rent I pay for the place where I work.

Shipping

Shipping costs to your location are also included in the charge I ask if you are based in Germany. Additional shipping costs to all locations outside Europe. I always ship with regular tracked DHL shipping. If you want an upgrade with UPS or DHL Express the additional shipping costs will be on you.

You can find explanations on my high quality packing here:

http://massivevoodoo.blogspot.com/2016/12/tutorial-how-to-pack-your-miniatures_21.html

Some projects are impossible to be shipped as the danger to damage them is too high. Therefor a pickup by you or a transport by me is possible. We just have to talk and find solutions to maybe meet at a figure show, have friends travelling close by or to meet up for a coffee somewhere on this planet.

Taxes

As I am working as self-employed artist you will also find my tax calculation included in the prices I do charge.

Payment

Payment can be done via Paypal what I prefer or in Germany/Europe via bank transfer. There is also the option to pay in two, three or more monthly rates or even more months. Let's talk. We find a solution together. My paypal adress is: jarhead@massivevoodoo.com

Process

You might wonder how the progress is if you decide to buy one of my projects:

- After I received your mail telling me your expression of interest in my work, I will send out this PDF to you.
- I would be happy to receive a response, even if you decide not to make any of the projects yours. If you decide to buy one project, we will have further talk via mail.
- As soon as you paid the project I will take preparation to make it ready for shipping. This might take some days, at maximum two weeks as in some cases I have to order new plastic containers to be perfect for the projects safe transport. I need your adress.
- As soon as I am done with the packing I make the parcel ready for shipping and keep you updated about the shipping status.
- As soon as the project arrives at your place I am happy to hear a response, as I really do not feel very comfortable with sending delicate and tiny miniature projects.
- Giving my best in the preparation for a safe transport I can tell that no major damage occured to the projects I sold so far. Sometimes a small tiny part breaks, even I packed ultra-secure, but a drop of superglue helps get it back on spot. I will not take any responsibility for damaged items at all. If such a case occurs we will contact the postal service. That is why I always ship parcels with insurance.

THANK YOU

Thank you for your support!
With buying a figure project from me you help me to continue my work, my painting, my teachings,
my life.

Thank you!
